Learning Objectives

1. Understand basic accounting terminology.
2. Explain double-entry rules.
3. Identify steps in the accounting cycle.
4. Record transactions in journals, post to ledger accounts, and prepare a trial balance.
5. Explain the reasons for preparing adjusting entries.
6. Prepare financial statement from the adjusted trial balance.
7. Prepare closing entries.

The Accounting Information System

- Basic terminology
- Debits and credits
- Accounting equation
- Financial statements and ownership structure

- Identifying and recording
- Journalizing
- Posting
- Trial balance
- Adjusting entries
- Adjusted trial balance
- Preparing financial statements
- Closing
- Post-closing trial balance
- Reversing entries
- Summary

- Income statement
- Statement of retained earnings
- Statement of financial position
- Closing entries

Accounting Information System

Accounting Information System (AIS)

- Collects and processes transaction data.
- Disseminates the information to interested parties.

Accounting Information System

Helps management answer such questions as:

- How much and what kind of debt is outstanding?
- Were sales higher this period than last?
- What assets do we have?
- What were our cash inflows and outflows?
- Did we make a profit last period?
- Are any of our product lines or divisions operating at a loss?
- Can we safely increase our dividends to shareholders?
- Is our rate of return on net assets increasing?

Basic Terminology

- Event
- Transaction
- Account
- Real Account
- Nominal Account
- Ledger
- Journal
- Posting
- Trial Balance
- Adjusting Entries
- Financial Statements
- Closing Entries

Debits and Credits

- An Account shows the effect of transactions on a given asset, liability, equity, revenue, or expense account.
- Double-entry accounting system (two-sided effect).
- Recording done by debiting at least one account and crediting another.
- DEBITS must equal CREDITS.

Debits and Credits

Account

- An arrangement that shows the effect of transactions on an account.
- Debit = Left
- Credit = Right

An Account can be illustrated in a T-Account form.

Account Name
Debit / Dr.	Credit / Cr.

Debits and Credits

If Debit entries are greater than Credit entries, the account will have a debit balance.

Account Name
Debit / Dr.	Credit / Cr.
Transaction #1	$10,000	Transaction #2
Transaction #3	8,000
Balance	$15,000

Debits and Credits

If Credit entries are greater than Debit entries, the account will have a credit balance.

	Account Name
	Debit / Dr.	Credit / Cr.
Transaction #1	$10,000	$3,000	Transaction #2
		8,000	Transaction #3

The Accounting Equation

Relationship among the assets, liabilities and equity of a business:

Illustration 3-3

The equation must be in balance after every transaction.
For every Debit there must be a Credit.

The Accounting Cycle

Identify and Recording Transactions

What to Record?

An item should be recognized in the financial statements if it is an element, is measurable, and is relevant and a faithful representation.

Underlying Concepts

Assets are probable economic benefits controlled by a particular entity as a result of a past transaction or event. Do human resources of a company meet this definition?

1. Journalizing

General Journal - a chronological record of transactions.

Journal Entries are recorded in the journal.

September 1: Shareholders invested $15,000 cash in the corporation in exchange for ordinary shares.

Illustration 3-7

GENERAL JOURNAL					J1
Date	Account Titles and Explanation	Ref.	Debit	Credit
2011 Sept. 1	Cash Share Capital—Ordinary (Issued ordinary shares for cash)		15,000	15,000

2. Posting

Posting - the process of transferring amounts from the journal to the ledger accounts.

Illustration 3-7

GENERAL JOURNAL					J1

2. Posting

Posting - Transferring amounts from journal to ledger.

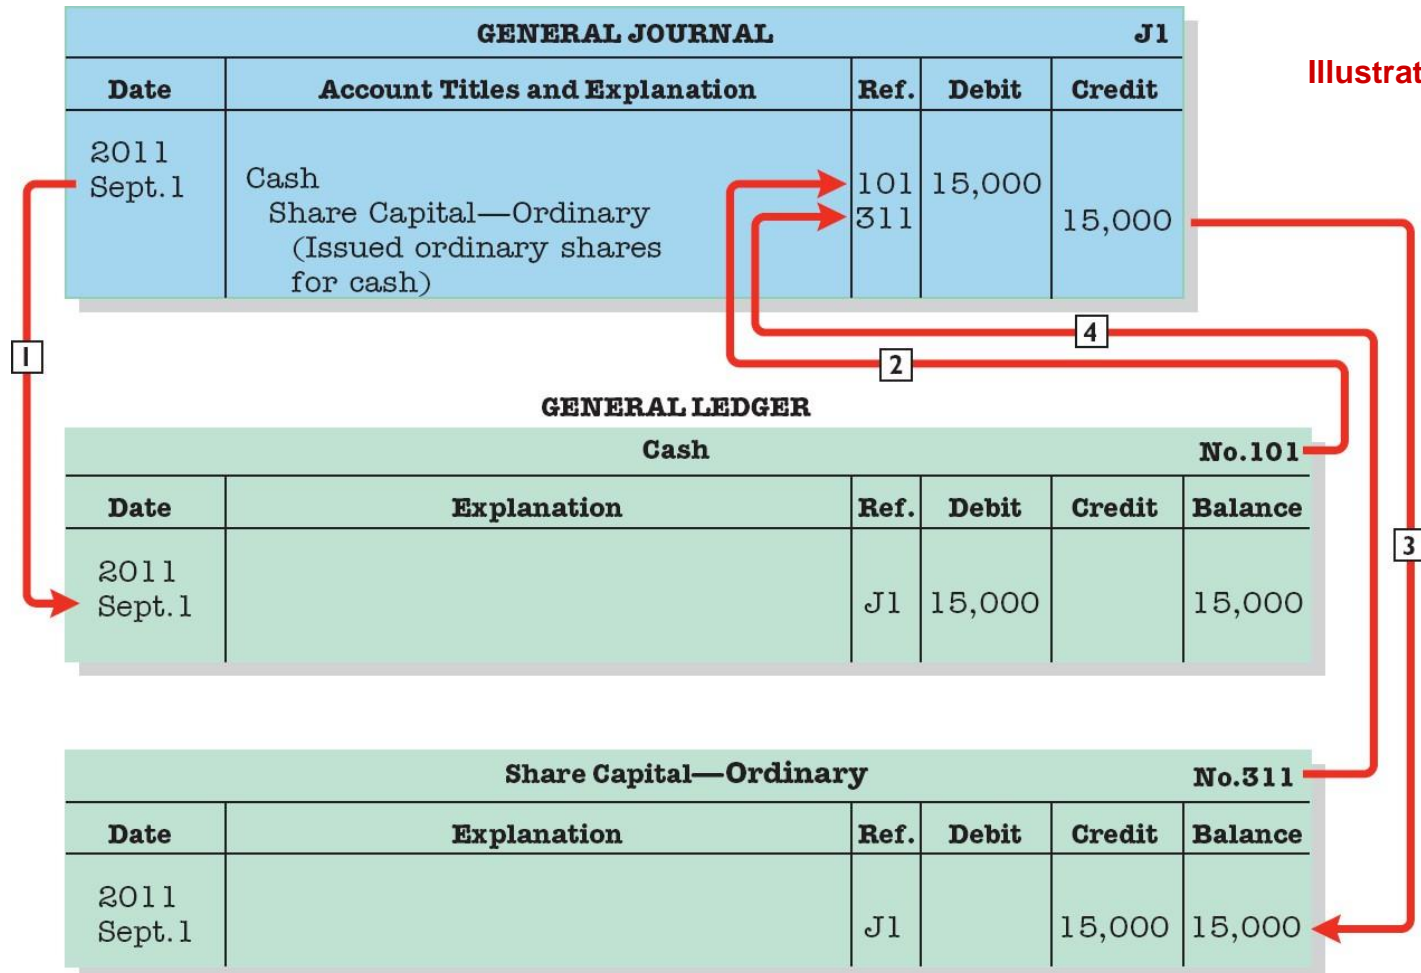

Illustration 3-8

2. Posting

Expanded Example

The purpose of transaction analysis is

- (1) to identify the type of account involved, and
- (2) to determine whether a debit or a credit is required.

Keep in mind that every journal entry affects one or more of the following items: assets, liabilities, equity, revenues, or expense.

2. Posting

1. October 1: Shareholders invest $100,000 cash in an advertising venture to be known as Pioneer Advertising Agency Inc.

7. October 9: Pioneer Advertising signs a contract with a local newspaper for advertising inserts (flyers) to be distributed starting the last Sunday in November. Pioneer will start work on the content of the flyers in November. Payment of $7,000 is due following delivery of the Sunday papers containing the flyers.

Illustration 3-15

A business transaction has not occurred. There is only an agreement between Pioneer Advertising and the newspaper for the services to be provided in November. Therefore, no journal entry is necessary in October.

4. Adjusting Entries

Makes it possible to:

- Report on the statement of financial position the appropriate assets, liabilities, and equity at the statement date.
- Report on the income statement the proper revenues and expenses for the period.
 - Revenues are recorded in the period in which they are earned.
 - Expenses are recognized in the period in which they are incurred.

Types of Adjusting Entries

Illustration 3-20

Deferrals

1. Prepaid Expenses.

Expenses paid in cash and recorded as assets before they are used or consumed.

2. Unearned Revenues.

Revenues received in cash and recorded as liabilities before they are earned.

Accruals

3. Accrued Revenues.

Revenues earned but not yet received in cash or recorded.

4. Accrued Expenses.

Expenses incurred but not yet paid in cash or recorded.

Adjusting Entries for Deferrals

Deferrals are either

- prepaid expenses or
- unearned revenues.

9. Reversing Entries

After preparing the financial statements and closing the books, a company may reverse some of the adjusting entries before recording the regular transactions of the next period.

Accounting Cycle Summarized

1. Enter the transactions of the period in appropriate journals.
2. Post from the journals to the ledger (or ledgers).
3. Take an unadjusted trial balance (trial balance).
4. Prepare adjusting journal entries and post to the ledger(s).
5. Take a trial balance after adjusting (adjusted trial balance).
6. Prepare the financial statements from the second trial balance.
7. Prepare closing journal entries and post to the ledger(s).
8. Take a trial balance after closing (post-closing trial balance).
9. Prepare reversing entries (optional) and post to the ledger(s).

CONVERGENCE CORNER

ACCOUNTING INFORMATION SYSTEMS

RELEVANT FACTS

- Internal controls are a system of checks and balances designed to prevent and detect fraud and errors. Both of these actions are required under SOX.
- Companies find that internal control review is a costly process. One study estimates the cost for U.S. companies at over $35 billion, with audit fees doubling in the first year of compliance.
- The enhanced internal control standards apply only to large public companies listed on U.S. exchanges. There is continuing debate over whether foreign issuers should have to comply.

APPENDIX 3A

CASH-BASIS ACCOUNTING VERSUS ACCRUAL-BASIS ACCOUNTING

Most companies use accrual-basis accounting

- recognize revenue when it is earned and
 - expenses in the period incurred,
- without regard to the time of receipt or payment of cash.

Under the strict cash basis, companies

- record revenue only when they receive cash, and
- record expenses only when they disperse cash.

Cash basis financial statements are not in conformity with IFRS.

Conversion From Cash Basis To Accrual Basis

Illustration: Dr. Diane Windsor, like many small business owners, keeps her accounting records on a cash basis. In the year 2010, Dr. Windsor received $300,000 from her patients and paid $170,000 for operating expenses, resulting in an excess of cash receipts over disbursements of $130,000 ($$300,000 - $170,000$). At January 1 and December 31, 2010, she has accounts receivable, unearned service revenue, accrued liabilities, and prepaid expenses as shown in Illustration 3A-5.

Theoretical Weaknesses of the Cash Basis

Today's economy is considerably more lubricated by credit than by cash.

The accrual basis, not the cash basis, recognizes all aspects of the credit phenomenon.

Investors, creditors, and other decision makers seek timely information about an enterprise's future cash flows.

Summary of Reversing Entries

1. All accruals should be reversed.
2. All deferrals for which a company debited or credited the original cash transaction to an expense or revenue account should be reversed.
3. Adjusting entries for depreciation and bad debts are not reversed.

Recognize that reversing entries do not have to be used. Therefore, some accountants avoid them entirely.
